In the Day's News.

William P. G. Harding, who has been offered the presidency of the proposed Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, is serving his sixth year as governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Governor Harding is a native of Alabama. He made a mark in college history during his undergraduate days, and still holds the honor of having been at 17 the youngest full graduate in the history of the University of Alabama. After completing his studies he began his business career as a clerk in a bank at Tuscaloosa, and in 1886 he accepted a position with a bank in Birmingham. Ten years later he was vice president of the Birmingham bank, and in 1902 became its president, a position he continued to hold for 14 years, until appointed a member of the Federal Reserve board. He became chairman of this board two years later.

Due to the efforts of the French Women's Council, a School of Commerce for Girls has been founded in France as well as a technical school for girls.

Formerly a marriage dowry of $5,000 was given to the English Queen's maids-of-honor on their weddings but this has been discontinued for some time.

It is never too late to marry. Of the 287,000 women who became brides in England last year nearly two hundred and fifty were over seventy years of age.

Maids-of-honor to Queen Mary receive the rank of "Honorable" with the social standing of a baron's daughter, unless by birth they already rank as such or higher.

New Orleans is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which is to meet in that city during Mardi Gras week.

Up to only a few years ago, Austrian women were not even permitted to belong to a political club or similar organization, and of course they had no votes. Today, women are sitting in the National Assembly.

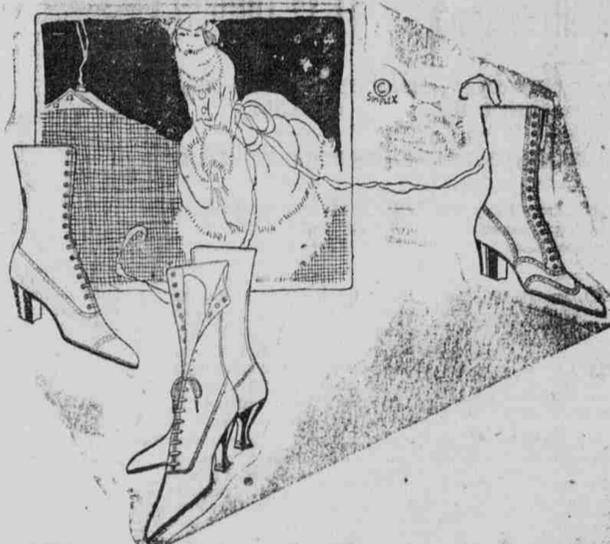

The appointment of Miss Mary Gordon as director of the Chicago Opera company is said to have upset a plan entertained by the famous singer of returning to England to stand for Parliament. She is a native of Aberdeen.

Remarkable is the matrimonial record of Mrs. Mary Francis Campbell, a 16-year-old of Boonville, Me. At 13 years of age she was a bride, at 14 a widow, at 15 remarried, and at 16 divorced and on the same day became a bride for the third time.

In Paris there is a woman producer of motion pictures, Germaine Du-lac whom the French declare has no superior and few equals. That Germaine is wise to her business is evidenced by the fact that she has come to the United States to study American methods.

Miss Gertrude Bell, compiler of the inner history of Mesopotamia, which has been issued by the British Government in the form of a White Paper, is considered one of the greatest authorities on the East. She has a

FIND Gold in Trees.
There is gold in trees. Tests have been made by taking the wood of certain trees, burning to ashes and assaying the ash. It has been found that the ash of almost all trees showed traces of gold. The harder the wood, the more gold there was. Ashes from the black iron wood contained from four to ten shillings worth of gold per ton. The metal tends to collect in the trunk near the roots, and the quantity naturally depends upon the auriferous nature of the soil in which the trees grow.—Toronto Telegram.
